Grand jury seeks change for morgue

By DON GREEN
Staff Writer

A mother whose badly burned son had died nearly walked in on the autopsy being performed on the young boy at the county morgue in San Bernardino.

With this poignant example, the grand jury told the county Board of Supervisors on Monday that the morgue needs a new entrance, a waiting room and a viewing room.

Marie Schmidt, chairwoman of the grand jury's law and justice committee, presented the interim report to the board. Her appearance marked a change in procedures for the grand jury, which usually just issues its interim reports in writing.

She said Assistant Coroner Leo Reyes and several deputy coroners had pointed out the need for a waiting room.

"The first thing that happened to me when I got there was that I walked up the only entrance there is, and I looked at bank of refrigerators that are there. And then on this side, there was a corpse that was properly covered, but it was there," she said.

"Now, I was only there to check out the problem. I wasn't there to identify someone. If I had been, I'm sure this would have been a very traumatic experience."

Schmidt said the waiting room needs to be "totally separate from the morgue itself."

With only one entrance, the door to the morgue now must be kept open, she noted. Schmidt said the example of the mother nearly stumbling into her son's autopsy "really shocked us."

She said there was no one at the entrance to assist the mother, who went wrong way and came within three feet of seeing her son's autopsy.

Schmidt said that for roughly $19,000 the county could build a 21-by-26-foot waiting room north of the morgue. A new entrance would be added there, and the existing door could be locked. Partitions would be used to separate the waiting and viewing rooms and to create a small reception area.

Local Supervisor Robert Townsend and Supervisor David McKenna suggested people should not come to the morgue to view bodies without appointments.

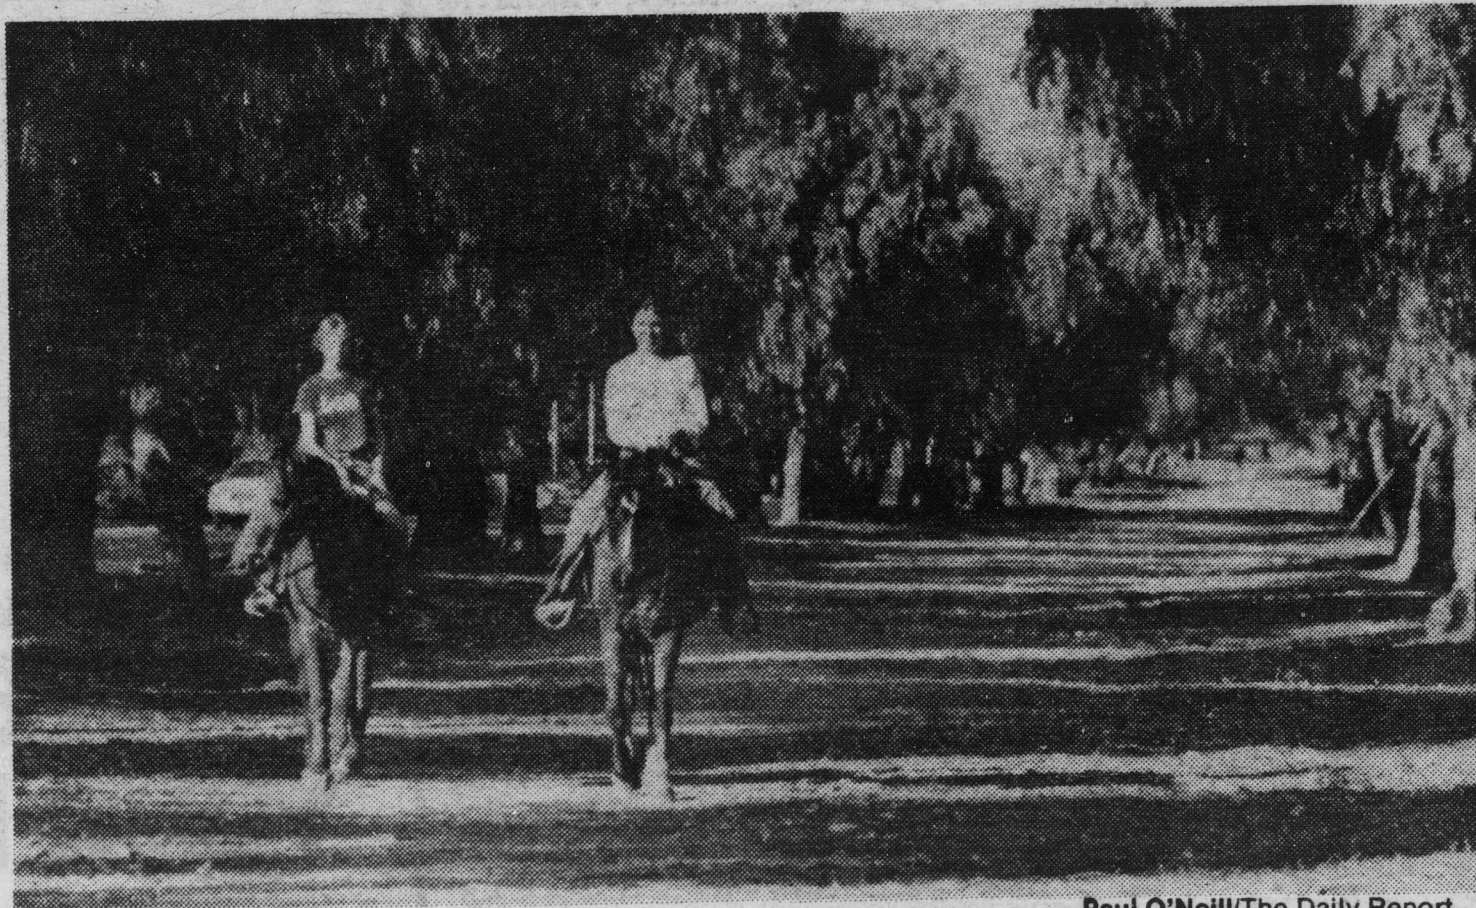

Schmidt was also prepared to present an interim report on a proposed relocation for automotive, communications and evidence-property facilities in the Sheriff's Department, but she said the department is already moving toward implementing those recommendations.

Thomas Hickman, foreman of the grand jury, said the new approach of presenting interim reports in person to the board "is a way of attracting more attention" and allows grand jurors to answer questions about their reports.

damaged by a clogged sewer main on Feb. 7.

Clappier was assured by the City Council early last week that the decision would be made when the committee met last Friday.

Tim Brown, director of finance, said that the committee needs more information on maintenance of the sewer main to determine if the city is liable. Upland performs regular maintenance on sewer mains every two months, and the city reported the main near the Clappier home at San Antonio Avenue and 18th Street had been cleaned just four days before the backup.

Brown said the committee should be able to make its final decision before the next City Council meeting March 1.

The committee did, however, authorize "front money" to sanitize and rehabilitate the Clappier home and its contents, Brown said. This action does not mean the city admits liability for the raw sewage entering the home, he noted.

Clappier came before the City Council asking help last week, saying that he cannot continue to pay the costs of this damage out of his pocket.

The Clappiers have had to stay in a motel, purchase new clothing and shoes, take their animals to the veterinarian, and pay cleaning costs since some 500 gallons of raw sewage spilled into their home earlier this month.

The waste water was forced into the home after a solid grease substance clogged the main near their home. Clappier said 180 gallons of solid material was removed from the master bedroom and bathroom alone, and that everything on the floor had to be discarded for health reasons.

The City Council authorized money to sanitize the house and its surroundings last week, declaring it a public health hazard and thereby not admitting liability.

Building slow in January

By BRUCE THORNTON
Staff Writer

January building activity almost dragged to a halt in four West End cities, judging by the value of permits issued.

Only one city, Chino, recorded an increase in building permit valuation last month as compared with January of 1981.

In Ontario, there was a sizable decline, but the month's total permit valuation exceeded $3 million.

Of the other four cities, only one topped $500,000.

The Chino Building Department issued permits valued at $1,451,956 last month compared with $1,293,502 in January 1981.

Two permits accounted for more than $1.2 million of Chino's January 1982 total. One was for construction of a Security Pacific Bank building at 12747 Central Ave., valued at $992,864. The other was for an industrial building to be constructed by Taylor Cabinets at 13933 Sycamore Ave., with a valuation of $215,700.

Ontario's permit valuation last month amounted to $3,216,756.

At a time when residential building was a rarity, permits were issued in Ontario for nine single-family dwellings, two apartment houses with a total of eight units and eight condominium projects with a total of 42 units. The value of all permits issued in the three residential building categories amounted to $2,476,224. A breakdown of this figure shows a valuation of $459,504 for single-family dwellings, $149,728 for apartment houses and $1,866,728 for condos.

The four cities recording big slow-downs were Rancho Cucamonga, Montclair, Upland and Fontana.

In Rancho Cucamonga, last month's permit valuation amounted to $425,406. This compares with $7,505,704 in January 1981.

Montclair's total fell from $4,430,630 in January 1981 to $290,511 last month.

In Upland, January permit valuation amounted to only $276,676, compared with $2,432,091 the preceding January.

Fontana issued permits worth $765,810 last month, down from $5,140,045 the preceding January.

Recurring Headaches

15,000,000 Americans suffer from recurring headaches. $300 million dollars are spent each year for headache remedies. Remedies that give temporary relief only. Headaches are only a symptom, a way of telling you that something is wrong. Unless the cause is corrected, headaches can lead to dizziness, eye and ear problems, high blood pressure, fainting spells, allergy, nervousness, and insomnia, which then leads to chronic tiredness and finally a nervous breakdown.

The neck and particularly the upper portion of the spine must be considered suspect in every case of recurrent headaches. Pick up the telephone NOW and make an appointment: 981-5666.

Low Back - Leg Pain

Continued low back pain...8 out of 10 people will at some time be struck down by low back pain. 250,000 industrial workers are disabled annually by low back pain. The structural or mechanical defects of the low back usually develop slowly and without pain over a period of many months...there is a slow, steady deterioration. The first symptoms are mild back pain, an occasional "catch" in the back progressing into leg pain and numbness. Finally there is a tremendous pain accompanied by the wasting away of leg muscle and eventual paralysis. Your best insurance against disabling spinal disorders is to make an appointment now 981-5666 for a FREE SPINAL EXAMINATION AND NERVE TEST.

Arm And Shoulder Pain

Arm and shoulder pain often starts with no more than a stiff neck. Generally located at the base of the neck, the stiffness becomes pain. Then this pain locates itself in the shoulder and finally to the arm.

The shoulder might be affected for some time before the arm gets involved. But gradually the arm falls victim, with muscle atrophy and paralysis the end results. This all started with a stiff neck, but slow, steady deterioration will take its toll. Don't take a chance...call now for a FREE SPINAL EXAMINATION AND NERVE TEST. 981-5666

SOTO HALL TEST — Damage to vertebral ligaments, and vertebral misalignments may be indicated by this test.

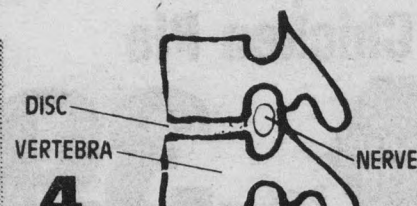

3.

TRENDELENBERG TEST — The integrity of the hip, sacroiliac and lumbosacral spine is examined in this test.

Gains in treatment of birth defects told

Major breakthroughs in prenatal treatment of birth defects are highlighted in "Year of History", the 1981 Annual Report of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

The report shows an all-time high of $76,740,106 in total public support and other revenue, an increase of almost $6 million over fiscal 1980. The figures reflect income for a 13-month-year, a one-time adjustment changing the fiscal year closing date from May 31 to June 30.

The text correlates the work of March of Dimes grantees with volunteer activities to raise funds for support of research which makes such breakthroughs possible. It connects the problems of five families across the country with "the work of those who raise the money to prevent birth defects and those who use these funds with respect, courage and imagination."

Special attention is focused on two cases in which birth defects were treated successfully in utero during the past year. One was the "world's first surgical prenatal treatment of a birth defect," to correct a dangerous urinary tract malfunction. The other involved successful treatment of an enzyme deficiency by chemical intervention three months before birth.

George S. Dillon, chairman of the March of Dimes national board of trustees, noted in his report that while "we have cause for optimism in the results of our work, a note of caution is indicated by reason of the inflationary forces which threaten our ability to grow."

To continue and expand its programs of research, medical services, education and community services and related supporting services the March of Dimes in fiscal 1981 spent a total of $78,- 645,982 a 15 percent increase over 1980. Scientific research, "at the core" of all March of Dimes programs, was funded during fiscal 1981 at $10,171,554.

Medical services supported by the March of Dimes in the amount of $7,602,145 during the year helped to provide genetic services, perinatal care facilities and services for high-risk mothers and their babies.

Programs for community services and education of professional health personnel and the general public were funded at the level of $38,983,325.

In addition to highlighting the scientific and clinical breakthroughs that occurred in 1981, the March of Dimes report pays special tribute to the thousands of volunteers "who have served with the full realization that theirs is a service of indefinite duration," since birth defects will not be conquered by a single triumph.

Woman director keeps crusading

By MARGE GROSS
Staff Writer

Rosemary Estelle Phelps has been a crusader for women in church life for many years.

Who is Rosemary Estelle Phelps?

She just happens to be the executive director of the Pomona Valley Council of Churches ... better known as Lucky Phelps, a highly energetic, dedicated woman.

"Lucky evolved from part of my youthful revolt," she laughed. "I've had fun with it."

Before assuming her position with the PVCC with headquarters in the First Christian Church, Garey Avenue, Pomona, Mrs. Phelps for nine years had been on the judiciary staff for the Presbytery, the governing body over all the Presbyterian Churches in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

"When I was very young," Mrs. Phelps said, "I was active in the women's programs in the Presbyterian Church ... president of the Presbyterian Women. I was the traditional mother with school-age children who was doing PTA work, volunteering for the United Way and the Chamber of Commerce."

She also had been a volunteer with the Presbyterian Synod and the General Assembly. "Ecumenically, I was involved in the Church Women United," she said.

In the 1960s, Mrs. Phelps was on the original Task Force on Women within the church promoting women in the clergy, pensions and other issues concerning women.

Lucky Phelps is a native of St. Louis, Mo., and came to California with her family as a teen-ager. She had gone to Fayette College in Missouri with her sights on being a doctor.

"When I came to California, I changed directions," she said.

After attending UCLA, she married

Tom Phelps, a teacher, and they had four children ... Carol Johnson, now in Oregon; Linda Phelps, Seattle, Wash.; David Phelps, Rialto; and Vicki, student at Long Beach State College.

Tom and Lucky lived in Blythe, then Fullerton, and 30 years ago, came to Rialto when Tom began teaching in the Colton Unified School District.

"I've always had a sensitivity of women in church and society," Mrs. Phelps said. "And I've had some battles."

The church, she explained, needs to be inclusive in the areas of male-female, philosophical, theological, youth and age and ethnic positions.

"Women have been pushed in the background (of church positions) ... and not all our churches ordain, but not all women are called," she said. "In the Presbyterian Church, 57 percent of the membership is female and there are women clergymen, but the church is primarily run by men."

"The United Presbyterian Church is 187 years old and in those years, there have been two women moderators!" she said.

When the position of director for the Pomona Valley Council of Churches was opened, Lucky Phelps said she applied on the last day applications were open.

"My son thought I had a lot of courage at my age to apply," she laughed. "But I am very comfortable with it (the job). It is hard work but there are a variety of interests."

She oversees 27 different units in the council, and said the council work is best known for the annual Walk for the Hungry. This project raises money for hungry people at home and abroad.

One of the numerous projects supported by the PVCC, Mrs. Phelps said, is the new grant for the Refugee Sponsorship and Resettlement Program.

There are 60 churches representing 12 denominations in 11 Pomona Valley communities belonging to PVCC, and these support 80 percent of the council. Any other funds are from private donations.

"Satisfaction and not a big salary is the benefit of my job," Mrs. Phelps said. "It is very challenging work and we are very dependent on volunteers ... and these are very committed people."

The council, she said, is working toward inclusiveness and expanding membership. "With all the cutbacks (government), there is more need for support in many areas ... to serve the Hispanic church and the growing number of Asian people in our community," she said.

"There's excitement to the lay person and personal enrichment and growth in volunteer work," Lucky Phelps said. "Volunteering is important and a privilege to me ... and a joy!"

Odd plants prosper under green thumbs

By PEGGY OLSEN
Staff Writer

Marble queens, arrowhead vines and Indian feather plants are thriving under the green thumbs of two trainees in a horticulture lab recently constructed at the Pomona Valley Youth Services Project office on Foothill Boulevard in Pomona.

Under the tutelage of Paul Cardenas, special projects director for the youth employment and counseling agency, Aaron Meyers and Helen Farnsworth are also nurturing other lush and exotic plants. These include a gold-dust tree, cornstock plant, weeping fig, silver nerved fittonia, emerald ripple and watermelon peperomia.

Before his involvement at Youth Services, Meyers had "never before associated with plants and didn't care to."

Survival of the plants, which he has grown from tiny cuttings, is now of intense importance to the young man. "Their survival depends on me," he declared.

Meyers has successfully planted cuttings in several "mini-hothouses" and cares for an exotic staghorn fern, a parasite that grows on the bark of trees in tropical jungles.

Farnsworth said she enjoys the job in the tranquil setting and has learned much about the care of plants. This experience, she added, may pave the way for a career in the nursery business.

Cardenas, a horticultural hobbyist, initiated the program to train youths in the various aspects of horticulture and the nature of a small business operation to provide them with employable skills and teach them "to care for something in a consistent manner."

Cardenas also sought to develop a program that would be financially self-sufficient. This was vital in light of cutbacks in federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds allocated for youth employment, he said.

The agency, operated under a joint-powers agreement between the cities of Pomona, Claremont and La Verne, receives a portion of its funding from the communities.

The youths have sold about $300 worth of plants and are spearheading an advertising campaign to increase sales. All proceeds are reinvested in the program, he added.

Plants can also be leased by businesses and individuals under a maintenance agreement that calls for Youth Services employees to provide plants with the necessary "tender loving care," Cardenas said. They will visit firms and homes to ensure that plants are properly situated. They will return to water, trim and fertilize them at proper intervals, he added.

Meyers and Farnsworth will soon begin training others in the techniques of propagation, grafting, cutting, pruning, watering and care of horticulture stock. And they will teach new trainees how to write memos, keep accurate inventory reports and accounting records.

Participants, Cardenas explained, will learn to view the business operation from the standpoint of both labor and management.

"I think this experience will make them more effective employees in whatever field they choose," he said.

Both Meyers and Farnsworth were involved in construction of the climate-controlled greenhouse where they labor.

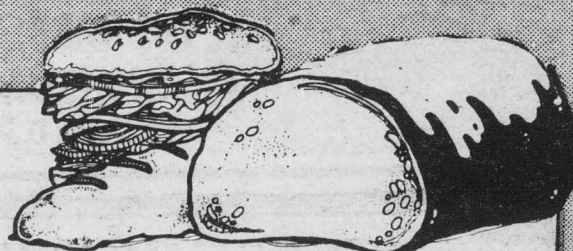

"They hammered thumbs and have a sense of pride in this place where they work," said Cardenas. Cost of the greenhouse was about $500. The agency also invested about $800 in horticultural stock and materials, he added.

Cardenas, who completed horticulture courses at Cal Poly Pomona, declared the training program is beneficial in a variety of ways.

"Most important is that these youngsters are learning to care for something. And through the business aspect of the program, they have learned how to "empathize" with management.

Ex-mayor to oppose Cramer in repeat race

By DON GREEN
Staff Writer

Setting up a rematch of their 1980 campaign, former Pomona Mayor Chuck Bader filed as a candidate Wednesday in the 65th Assembly District to challenge incumbent Jim Cramer.

Bader filed his declaration of intention shortly before the 5 p.m. deadline for candidates seeking legislative and judicial offices.

Cramer, a Democrat, is unopposed in the June 8 party primary election. Bader is the only Republican candidate in the reapportioned 65th District, which covers Pomona, Ontario, Montclair, Chino and part of Fontana.

In 1980, Cramer defeated Bader by just 1,565 votes after a controversial campaign. Reapportionment has increased the margin of Democrats over Republicans in voter registration.

Assemblyman William Leonard also picked up an opponent Wednesday for the November general election. Leonard, a Republican, is running in the new 61st District, which includes Upland and Rancho Cucamonga.

Gesa Maria Kearney of Grand Terrace filed her declaration of intention for the Democratic primary. Kearney, a travel agent, is chairwoman of the San Bernardino County Democratic Central Committee and the widow of Judge Matthew Kearney.

Leonard and Kearney were the only candidates who filed in the district.

For the third consecutive primary, state Sen. Ruben Ayala has no Democratic opponent. The new 34th District covers Pomona and all of the West End except Upland and north Rancho Cucamonga. Dean Kurtz of Ontario, an engineer, was the only Republican candidate to file.

Assemblyman Terry Goggin, D-66th District, is the only local legislator being challenged in the June primary. Gerald Butler of Rialto, a consultant, and Harvey Friedman of San Bernardino, a teacher and writer, are also seeking the Democratic nomination.

John Walter Strickler II of San Bernardino, a real estate broker, is the only Republican candidate in the 66th District, which includes most of Fontana.

Of the six Superior Court judges up for election this year, only Ferdinand Fernandez of Upland, who holds Office No. 5, is opposed.

Wallace Taggart of Apple Valley filed his declaration of intention shortly before 5 p.m. Wednesday. Taggart served as a Municipal Court judge in Victorville, but was defeated in 1980 in a close election. He was previously a Justice Court judge in Bloomington.

Unopposed are Superior Court Judges J. Steve Williams, Richard Garner, Charles Bierschbach, Ben Kayashima and LeRoy Simmons.

A fourth candidate filed his declaration of intention Wednesday for the judge's seat on Chino Division of Municipal Court. Alfredo Rivas of Chino, an attorney, joined Judge Holley Graham and attorneys Robert Lemkau and Robert Pellen as candidates in the race.

Judge Dyson Cox was the only candidate to file in the West Valley Division of Municipal Court, which covers most of the West End. Judge Ward O. Mathews is the only candidate in the Valley Division, which includes Fontana.

The names of candidates running unopposed in their parties' primaries for state legislative offices will be on the June ballot. Judges who are unopposed will not have their names on the ballot, unless new candidates force an election.
